

Research in Legal Practice

Aaron Taylor, Trainee Solicitor, Copious Law

I am currently a Trainee Solicitor at Copious Law, working within Landlord and Tenant Law, having graduated from LJMU in 2021.

Legal research plays a significant role in my day to day life as a Trainee Solicitor. The governing legislation in all areas of law is consistently updated. Therefore it is vital that one keeps up to date with the rules stipulating how they ought to act.

Most days I find myself researching recent changes to the Civil Procedure Rules and new authorities to rely on in my pleadings. Civil litigation (and in particular Landlord and Tenant Regulations) is a continuously evolving sphere and the Solicitors Regulation Authority requires solicitors to keep up to date with the law surrounding their work. Therefore it is an essential practice at any firm to “know the law”.
